Grand Jury Expected Merely to Criticise Management of Sing Sing.

WILLETT LIVES IN EASE

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., Nov. 21 .- It is elieved now by men in close touch with the Sing Sing prison investigation that rden Thomas Mott Osborne will not be indicted by the Westchester county Grand Jury. It is predicted, however, that the Grand Jury's report will strongly criticise the warden for laxity in discipline and failure to report to the county prosecutor felonies alleged to have been committed by convicts.

When the investigators resume their ssions on Tuesday Superintendent of Prisons Riley will be recalled. It is expected that T. B. McDonald, his confiential agent, and former Deputy War-Sen Charles H. Johnson will be witnesses Gen Charles H. Johnson with the withcress later in the day. The decision to recall Supt. Riley sets at rest a report that the investigation into moral conditions in the prison ended with the indictment of twenty-six convicts on Friday.

It is expected that the inquiry will be set the day. Thanksgiving Day. How-

None of the twenty-six indicted pris-oners will be tried this year except Nathan Kaplan, alias Kid the Dropper, who is accused of a serious felony. His trial has been fixed for December 13. Kaplan was formerly an assistant butler in the warden's house. District Attor-ney Weeks hopes that the trial will be productive of valuable information reling the inner workings of the Mutua Mare League.

Welfare League.

Former Congressman William Willett has led an easy life since he was brought here from Sing Sing to help the prosecutor work up evidence against other convicts. He plasses the greater part of each day in the District Attorney's office and is taken for a walk by a deputy sheriff every afternoon. Willett is closely guarded, however, partly because of the enemies he has made among officials of the Mutual Welfare League, some of whose secrets he is believed to. nome of whose secrets he is believed to have revealed.
